SAZETTE AND STOCKMAN.

NO. 78.

Am willing to trade Rio Bonito lands in Butte county, California, for two or three town lots, or for a house and lot in Reno. It is believed that Rio Bonito property will increase in value 100 per cent within two years. There are no richer lands in the world than the Feather river bottom lands, good for oranges, lemons, peaches, apricots and other fruits without irrigation. This other fruits without irrigation. This is an excellent opportunity for speculation, or to get a home in one of the best spots in California. Will be in Reno for a few days, and will be pleased to meet all those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity.

BEAUTY AT THE COUNTER. The Daily Life of Girls Who Serve in

Varied in character, in ability, in cir cumstances, in tastes, and accomplish ments, girls who stand behind the counters in all New York stores are subjected to the same rules, discipline and re-

At 8 o'clock they flock to their respective places and begin work, which continues until lunch time. The lunch hour begins at half-past 11 or 12, and by half-past 2 all have had their half hour's

In all the large stores lunch rooms are provided, where girls may have hot tea or coffee, and where milk and fruit are also sold. At Macy's the lunch room seats some 200 girls, and in addition to the tea and coffee, hot rolls, eclaires, pastry, cakes, and the sweets dear to feminine cases, and the same as in the ladies' restaurant below, only at nominal rates—a cup of good coffee costing only three cents, and other things in the same

The girls usually bring their lunch from home, and leave it in one of the boxes which line one side of the large, well-ventilated room. Here is a novel stuffed in one box, "The Dark Secret," "The Bandit's Bride," "Barriers Burned Away," or "He fell in Love with His Wife." In nnother box a newspaper is thrust waiting for the midday rest; there a piece of fancy work is felded away, or a bit of knitting or crochet work which, when the lunch is dispatched, is brought forth, and while the swift, deft fingers fly the clattering tongue keeps up a merry accom-

The lunch counter is liberally patron-ized, few girls eating without the cup of warm tea or coffee or a glass of milk. One lunches off two or three eclaires, reading her novel as she munches them; another absorbs the last number of a thrilling continued story as indigestible and delicious as the bit of pastry she devours at the same time; one tiny cash girl, with her little dish of milk beside her, eats only ginger cookies, but a great many of them, for her noonday meal. Twice each week oyster stew is cooked for them, and other changes in their bill of fare are frequently made. In this store, too, a society is established among the girls, to which each pays seven cents a week, and from which each receive $5 per week in case of accident or sickness. The average age of girls entering the business is 14, but many come in much younger, and they remain six, ten, and even fifteen years, unless they marry. Some wed their associates and co-laborers, others make very excellent marriages outside among their acquaintances, and a few marry customers with whom they have become acquainted in the store, but these are exceptional cases, for there is little chance for conversation when on think. . The Drummer Was Left. . A Scotch story is that of a diminutive drummer in a local brass band who was in the habit, when out parading with his comrades, of walking by sound and not by sight, owing to his drum being so high that he was unable to see over it. The band on Saturday afternoon paraded usually in one direction, but the other day the leader thought he would change the route a little and turned down a by street. The drummer, unaware of this movement, kept on his accustomed way drumming away as hard as ever he could.

By and by, after finishing his part, and not hearing the others, he stopped, and pushed his drum aside to see what was the matter. His astonishment may be imagined at finding that he was alone.

Question of Grammar for Settlement. Our friends of the Portsmouth Penny Post are in doubt as to what form of the verb should follow measles, and being a fair-minded lot of people they offer their subscribers the choice between "measles are prevalent" and "measles is prevalent."

If we may be allowed a suggestion, it would be in effect a recommendation that our Portsmouth friends buy a dictionary to use in grave emergencies. Here in Dover the best schoolmarm authority in-dorses the dictionaries which call measles dorses the dictionaries which call measles a noun of singular number, and a boy might as well have the measles as to tell his teacher that measles are prevalent. By chance we hear of a remark quite apropos, made recently by a Sawyer school boy. Said he:

""Measles are prevalent' isn't correct; you should say say 'they is prevalent.""— mortar. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

I am going to tell vou of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the first of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night ustil I was raw, and then the next night the scales peing formed meanwhile were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and Jurchased them from my druggist and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly cruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thieteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or live weeks was entirely cured. My diregase was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies, and an four or live weeks was entirely cured. My diregase was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in works the Elizarks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

There is grim significance in the statement that Senator Hale will make "good use" of Secretary Vilas' list of political appointments in the Interior Department since 1885. As the Administration made good use of its opportunities in putting Democrats into the places of Republicans, so Hale will make good use of the record to show the insincerity of Cleveland's Civil Service professions.

Mr. Sewell predicted a mining boom for the country as soon as it was tapped by a railroad and transportation facilities afforded. He said that thousands of tons of ore would immediately be shipped to Salt Lake City for smelting, and immense quantities of provisions and all kind of supplies would be required for the many mining towns and camps that would spring into life. When the people of Utah and Colorado open up this country Nevadans will begin to take some interest in it. We will hold still, and if they find any Comstocks out there we will sally forth and take all their finds from them. We will act the part of the man who heard the burglar in his house. San Francisco, June 29.—The at torneys for J. Milton Bowers, the convicted wife poisoner, each filed a petition with the Supreme Court yes-terday asking for a rehearing of Bowers' case. The documents are points brought up in the original appeal. Great stress is laid on the late decision of the Appellate Court, in which it was stated that had the test-imony introduced in the Benbayon inquest been of record in the lower court it would have entitled the decourt it would have entitled the de-fendant to a new trial. "In other words," says the petitioners. "the court says evidence exists which en-titles the defendant, as a matter of fact, to a new trial, but because our methods of legal procedure are de-ficient, a new trial cannot be granted on that ground."

The attorneys declare this to be good and sufficient reason why the court should review the case, but admit that "there is every reason to suppose that the Governor will in suppose that the Governor will in some way interfere and prevent the infliction of the death penalty."

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS

The following platform and resolutions were adopted by the Republican State Convention, which convened at Winnemucca on the 15th instant:

The Republicans of the State of Nevada, in Convention assembled, again express their loyalty to the principles of the Republican party, which have made this country so great and prosperous during the last quarter of a century.

quarter of a century.

Resolved, That the question of a sufficient upply of circulating medium to maintain a permanent range of the price of labor and property is the most important political question awaiting solution by the American people.

That a diminishing quantity of money reduces the price of labor and property, enriches the creditor, impoverishes the debtor, and paralyzes industry and enterprise.

reduces the price of labor and property, enriches the creditor, impoverishes the debtor, and paralyzes industry and enterprise.

That the present financial system of the United States, which increases or diminishes the circulating medium at the pleasure of the manipulators of the national banks, without regard to the increase of population or the wants of the people, and which recognizes gold alone as the standard of value, and places in the hands of the Treasury Department all the revenue of the Government to speculate with in bonds and loan to the national banks without interest, is subsersive of the rights of the people, oppressive, unjust and should be repudiated.

That a financial policy whereby both gold and silver shall form the basis of circulation, whether the money used by the people be coin, or coin certificates redeemable in coin, or both, as convenience may require, is imperatively demanded.

That the attempt to substitute national bank notes, costing the Government millions of dollars annually, for free silver, costing nothing, is an outrage upon the recopie; that the money ring or trust, which has usurped the sovereign power of the Government to issue money, and which has fraudulently demonetized silver and selzed the revenues of the Government for private speculation, shocks the moral sense of the poople and destroyed, and equal rights be restored to all the people.

We charge that President Cleveland is the willing tool or agent of a powerful money ring, which fattens on the subsidies of the Government, borrows the revenues raised by t xation and uses the mythout the payment of interest, contracts the cur ency to enhance the value of bonds, and enriches usurers, while it depresses the price of labor and property.

That we favor the nomination of no man or President who is personally interested enhance the value of bonds, and enriches usurers, while it depresses the price of labor and property.

'hat we favor the nomination of no man or President who is personally interested in national banks or the bonded indebtedness of the United States, but we demand a candidate who is free to do justice to all the people of the country—the poor as well as the rich.

That the trick of the President and his advisers by which they prevented a vote in the House of Representatives on the Beck silver amendment to the Bond Purchase bill, equals the villainy of the secret and traudulent demonetization of silver in 1873.

RESOLVED. That we are in favor of the protection of home industry, and that the laborers of this country have a right to all the work required to supply the people of the United States, and that we are in favor of high wages, and to that end will protect the wages workers from competition with the cheap labor of other lands.

RESOLVED. That the policy of the Government should be inaugurated and established by the p ople t-rough their representatives in both Houses of Congress, and not by the President or money trust, of which he, either as agent or head, is most active in defending.

We are in favor of the absolute exclusion of Chinese, and of the restriction of immigration by which the overcharged condition of the labor market is made worse, and we favor legislation by which a revision of our naturalization and land laws may be accomplished.

RESOLVED, That we recognize the right of labor to organize for its lawful protection. VII.

We favor the appropriations by Congress for hydrographical and topographical sur-veys in this State, to the end that the waste waters may be preserved for the purpose of irrigation. VIII.

We endorse the wise and conservative ad-ninistration of Governor Stevenson, and we heartily commend the able efforts of fenators Jones and Stewart and Represen-ative woodburn in behalf of the interests

We favor the granting to Nevada of all Government land within the State for the purpose of providing means for irrigation and other improvements.

A BEMINISCENCE

Of the Time When Tom Fitch Es-In 1870 Tom Fitch, he of the silver tongue, was the Republican nominee for Congressman from Nevada, but was defeated by Charlie Kendall, who rode over Fitch on the popular shoulders of Major Bradley, who was elected Governor, and carried with him part of the Democratic ticket. In 1872 Fitch, who was then residing in Salt Lake City, espouse the cause of Horace Greely, the Democratic nominee for the Presidency. Fitch was prevailed upon by the Democrats of Pioche to go there and address a ratification meeting. It drew an immense crowd from both parties, all anxious to hear his reasons for supporting Greely. They were well presented in the eloquent and inimitable style of Fitch, in which he compared the atmosphere surrounding the Republican party to that of the deadly upas tree—once within its charm, not easy to escape from until death claimed its victim. The simile was given in Fitch's bappiest manner, and evoked enthusiastic applause from all the Democrate present, except Judge Jesse Pitzer, the old Democratic war-horse, who was so incensed over Greely's nomination that he left the Democratic ranks and voted for Grant. At the above point in Fitch's speech, Pitzer in-terrupted and asked him to explain how he was for Greely while he (Pitzer) was for Grant. Fitch re-plied with the anecdote of the Irishman who was riding a mule, and in jogging along dropped his feet out of the stirrup. The maile, bothered with the flies, kicked, and in doing so stuck one hind foot through a stirrup, at which the Irishman said: "Be Jasus, if you are going to get on, it's time for me to get off."

member and an officer of high station. In life he eked out a precation. In life he eked out a precarious existence by rag-picking, etc., but when death relieved him of his sufficing his bruised and battered clay was the object of the highest reverence. The funeral procession consisted of eight or ten carriages, etc., headed by the commissary wagon (carrying food to propitiate the evil spirits) from which towered a red flag (looking suspiciously like the Democratic bandauna), and bringing up the rear was a carryall conveying the musicians, who kept up an unearthly din until the cemetery was reached. Deceased was a member of the Gee company, a native of Canton, and aged 58 years.

THEMAS FITCH.

The Silver-Tongued Orator Pays

Thomas Fitch, Esq., one of the Caiffornia delegates to the Republican National Convention, arrived from Chicago last night, and left for Hawthorne on a short business trip this morning. In a brief itterview with a GAZETTE reporter Mr. Fitch expressed himself well satisfied with the selection of Harrison and Morton by the Convention and says that it makes a very strong ticket and one that is sure of election. He says further that the campaign will develop some surprises that will aid in defeating the Democratic nominees, and that for Democratic nominees, and that for the first time we can confidently expect a break up in the vote of the Solid South. West Virginia can be counted on for the Republican cause, and the doubtful Northern States are secured by the selection of Harrison and Morton.

He gives interesting reports of the work of the Convention, and in explanation of his speech following Bob Ingersoll, who closed with a plea for Gresham, says that he was in the act of leaving the hall when Ingersoll commenced, and was met at the door by California delegates who urged him to speak. There was much difficulty in returning through the crowd and he failed to hear Ingersoll's speech. When he [Fitch] reached the platform, the Convention suspected that he came to enter a plea for Blaine, and as Blaine was then retired, they were in no humor to listen, and as soon as he took in the situation he good naturedly ceased.

Mr. Fitch has changed somewhat in physical appearance since the years when he was one of Nevada's itizens. Then he was lithe and agile, with dark hair and mustache; now he is solid in increased aver-dupois and the frosts of time have whitened his hair, changing his looks so much that old friends do not readily recognize him.

PROPHET JOE SMITH.

The Founder of Mormonism Shorn of His Honors.

The history of the alleged revelatien made by the prophet Joseph Smith grows more and more interesting with the lapse of time, says the Cleveland Sun. On the death of the prophet there was a strong push made by a number of Smith's lieutenants to come to the front. Up to that time Sidney Rigdon had undoubtedly been the most prominent. He was the Aaron of the new dispensation. He expected to come to the leadership. Before joining Smith he had been a prominent and respected Disciple minister and he was the most eloquent preacher of the new doctrine. James Jesse Strang, a Methodist preacher who joined the Mormon movement after the exodus from Onio, was also a candidate for the leadership. The Vermont carpenter, Brigham Young, was a better manipulator than any of the others, and the choice fell upon him. He was not an orator, but he developed the qualities of a great leader. He will go down into history as one of its remarkable characters. Had it not been for his sagacity and indomita-ble energy the Mormon movement would undonbtedly have come to an abrupt and miserable end. Rigdon returned to his former home in a Pennsylvania village and lived for many years an atheist. Strang established himself as King of Beaver Island on Lake Michiing too much upon the imagination to suppose that the anti-polygamous branch of the church will be recognized as one of the orthodox sects In this case Joseph Smith will sim-ply be relegated to the clane occu-pied by Wesley, Calvin, Campbell, and other founders of religious denominations. The Winnemucca Fire.

A dispatch received from Winnemucca last night gives the following particulars of the fire which occurred there Wednesday evening: The Depot Hotel here caught fire last evening. There was a strong wind at the time, and the building was soon developed in flames. The railroad fire engine and town house company turned on water, but not-withstanding their efforts the flames crossed the street and burned the passenger depot, express and telegraph offices. The loss on the hotel is $4,000 and on the passenger depot $3,000. The origin of the fire is unknown. No insurance.

The six-year-old son of a family named Wise was drowned in Walker river, June 25, about five miles distint from Pizen Switch. Deceased was bathing in the river with a brother three years his senior. The elder boy for some strange reason failed to notify his parents of the drowning of his brother until questioned closely about the child's long-continued absence.

"Three of a Kind."

A fair-sized audience attended Mc-Kissick's Opera House last evening to witness Salsbury's Troubadours in the farcical absurdity entitled Three of a Kind." Nellie McHenry as Dollie Dashwood was the same sparkling, vivacious Nellie as of old. and her singing was all that could be desired. She was ably assisted by the other members of the troupe, and judging from the continuous laughter of the audience their eflaughter of the audience their efforts to please were successful. The slang phrases "Come off!" and "Great Casar's ghost!" so liberally indulged in by Mr. Blair as Jack Potts, who evidently is of the opinion that they are new on this Coast, should be exchanged for something less ancient. The company proceeded to Carson and Virginia today, and their merits entitle them to the liberal patronage of the people of those towns.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH

As much blood goes through the kidneys as goes through the heart.

There is nothing startling about this fact except it be a revelation. Many people have but a dim idea of the real work of the kidneys. They not only drain the water from the system, but also the poisonous matter which that water holds in solution to carry out of the system. Over half the time, however, the kidne fail to do this work!

What is the result?
Gradual failure of strength and health and eventually death by Bright's Disease or some unsuspected kidney disease.
But pertiagles in the spring of kidney disease.

But particularly in the spring of the year, when one's blood is filled with poisonous waste, as it invariably is at that time, you feel depressed, tired, languid, do not seem to have any disease, but your system does not respond to the genial warmth of summer and spring as formerly.

You had better look out!

The kidney poison is accumulating

The kidney poison is accumulating in the blood. Tonics won't do any good, they simply treat effects. You good, they simply treat effects. You can only secure a radical, thorough renovation of the system by the prompt use of Warner's safe Cure, which is the only reliable, scientific specific for the blood, because it is the only known specific in the world for the kidneys, which are the only great blood purifiers.

GEO. F. RIDGEWAY, 98 Murison St., Cleveland, O., Ex-Deputy Sheriff, from uric acid poisoning of the blood became, at times totally blind, and was troubled with great giddiness. In 1882, after suffering for many years, and being distressed beyond measure, he thoroughly purified his blood by means of Warner's Safe Cure, and says. "I have never had a day's trouble since, and have fully recovered my health. Warner's Safe Cure saved my life."

covered my health. Warner's Safe Cure saved my life."

REV. J. P. ARNOLD, of Camden, Tenn., in '78 and '81 was grievously afflicted with many abscesses, caused by kidney poisoned blood. The abscesses were alive for many months and caused great distress. After thoroughly purifying his blood with Warrer's Safe Cure in 1882, he reported that in 1888 he was strong and well, over 71 years of age, and able to preach regularly.

and well, over 71 years of a ge, and able to preach regularly.

CAPT. W. D. ROBINSON, United States Marine Inspector for the chain of lakes, residence Buffalo, N. Y., in 1881 had a slight eruption on his hands. It soon spread to his face and he was almost blind. His body was covered with light, flaky scales. His skin itched excruciatingly. For two years he gradually grew worse, trying almost everything imaginable. In 1883, after having given up hope of recovery, he began using Warner's Safe Cure. "Twenty bottles," he says, "completely cured me, and to-day I am strong and well as ever."

AMES WIGHT, 296 Fifth Ave., New York, suffered for years from inflamma-tory rheumatism—a blood disorder—but in 1883 was fully restored to health by Warner's Safe Cure and remains well to-

The four above cases are as good as a million. They prove what is stated, that the organ that removes the impurity from the blood most effectually is the kidney, and for this when impaired there is but one sound, rational method of treatment.

Dr. Dio Lewis, who was opposed to the use of medicines in general, thought so highly of this remedy that he said if he had a serious kidney disease, he should use it.

Ask your friends and neighbors what they think of it what they think of it.

In the spring of the year, when debility is so prevalent, and the seeds of disease are sown that may have a fatal blossoming before the fall, the prudent man and woman will give the system a thorough cleansing and purification.

WHAT "LUNCHEON" REALLT MEANS.

Some Recommendations to Those Who Give Them and to Those Who Eat Them.

To mention the word luncheon is to call up a picture of rest and quiet and homelike peace.

Within the home where peace and order reign, the cloth is neatly spread and the dishes tidily arranged for even a morsel of toast and a cup of tea. Perhaps a cloth of yellow or pink or crimson is provided for this meal with napkins to match. In that case the dishes ought to Porcelain, by the way, is a matter of choice with the housekeeper. Fashion changes: beauty remains the same. Numberless forms and combinations of color are always to be found, the choice depending upon extent of taste no less than of purse. Every year there is a larger variety, since skilled native workmen are becoming more skillful still, and our American wares now vie in every respect with the imported and are less expensive.

Stamped patterns of the wild rose or daisy, or grass, or of conventional forms, on ware of a good quality, can be pur-chased very reasonable, with the comforting certainty that anything broken can be readily duplicated. As for nicked dishes—those horrors of a sensitive eye— a fine piece of china had better be broken and thrown away than be degraded to kitchen service. The fitness of things forbids such desceration.

No other meal so well shows the care and thrift of the housekeeper as the fam-ily luncheon. A little foresight provides a savory stew or sonp from the bones and remnants of meats and gravies, and stewed fruits and patties, or the oldfashioned baked turn-overs served warm on a cold winter's day when the children rush in from school asking for something savory. This is the case, where, unfortunately, circumstances compel a late dinner, if the father or other members find it impossible to be at home at the midday meal.

Let the table be ever so perfect, the success of a luncheon depends on the congeniality of the guests. It is essentially a woman's repast. Those who know each other too well are bored in being brought together in a formal way. Generally some one whom it is designed to honor becomes the cause of a conventional lunch party, and no more charming way can be found to introduce a friend into a social

The cup that cheers loosens thoughts and sets the tongue in motion, and she is not a woman who does not enjoy conversation. The plane of the conversation will be upon the level of her thought, but that, thanks to the progress of intellectual and moral culture among women, is yearly taking a higher tone.

Those of mightier mold, who look down disdainfully on a feminine lunch party, would be surprised enough could they listen, unseen, to many a modern talk around the dainty board. Science, thics, philanthropy, art and sociology have here found eloquent exposition from those whose lips are sealed in mixed gatherings, or when unexhilarated by the contact with those in whose society they feel free from restraint and criticism.

ON THE STEAMBOAT.

An Interesting Demonstration Industri-riously Worked Up.

There was, in the next stateroom to one which the listener not long since occupied, a family of three-mother and two daughters-who had sharp clear voices that could occasionally be heard through the board partition. And in the silent but unsteady watches of the night, at frequent intervals, there came an inquiry like this:

"Mother! You sick?"
"No, Mamie."
"You sick, Sarah?"
"No, Mamie. How do you feel Jourself?" "I guess I'm all right now."

Silence for a little while, and then the exclamation:

"What, mother?"

的以从编 "No, mother."

You sick, Sarah?"

"Not yet, mother."
Then a duo from the daughters: "How do you feel, mother?"
"Well, I feel awful queer. I'm afraid

I'm going to be sick!"
And so the night went on, and it was a relief at last when the mother had worked herself up into a pronounced attack of seasickness, and Sarah had followed suif, and Mamie had joined in the demonstration.—Boston Transcript.

BE COURTEOUS.

But Don't Make Undignified Mistakes He was a great swell, one of the affable, polite kind, who had worked all his life to get the reputation of knowing every-body. He prided himself on his tact, and flattered himself he knew exactly the degree of familiarity to extend to any given degree of life. He was a great card in the best society. He never made any mis-takes; when he was not quite sure who it might be he relied upon his instinct.

He was walking in great state down the street, and a quiet, respectable-looking man, a man with a solid kind of business air about him, was coming up. He remembered his face; he was sure he knew him, and he did not want to be impolite. The man looked at him as if the recognition

That was enough. When he did anything he did it with all his heart. He stopped and held out his hand and his grasp was full of cordiality.

A Timely Suggestion. "Bobby," said his mother, sternly, "I punished you only last week for running away, and yet you have done it again to-day. I don't know what I shall do."
"Why not give up punishing me, ma," suggested Bobby, "it doesn't seem to do any good?" any good?"

Time To Close Up. She was sitting in the parlor with her beau when the old man came down stairs and opened the front door.

"Surely, papa," she said, "you are not going out at this late hour?"

"Merely to untie the dog," he replied.

"Well, Miss Clara," said the young man, reaching for his hat, "I think I will say good night.
